TO OUR PATRONS

We are presenting you with a condensed Catalogue for 1906, illustrating all goods shown in our Catalogue of 1900, also some new additions to the line, consisting of a few Hammers, Hatchets and Heavy Goods.

Our constant aim is to continue to improve our brand of goods until they reach perfection in every detail. This cannot be obtained, however, if we follow the market and meet the prices of all comers.

Our system of inspection is strictly followed in all departments. This is so thorough that it is almost impossible for a defective tool, either in quality or finish, to pass without detection.

The Telegraphic Code was first introduced in Catalogue of 1888. A few new phrases have been added in this issue. Please consult it before ordering by wire.

Extensive alterations and additions to our Plant have just been completed, increasing our output fully fifty per cent. This will enable us to carry a complete stock of all goods illustrated in these pages, and thus be prepared to fill orders promptly. Careful attention will be paid to special orders upon receipt of pattern or drawing. When these are not furnished and instructions are not explicit, we will do our best to please; but if not satisfactory cannot allow the goods to be returned.

A new Wood Working Shop, operated by electric power, with modern appliances for thoroughly seasoning our handles, is in full operation; thus insuring you against complaints of loose handles from your customers.

We desire to extend thanks to each one of you, personally, for the favors extended during 1905, and hope by close attention to your wishes to merit your confidence in the future.

Yours, very truly,

Raylle R. Plumb

President.

PLAIN TALK ABOUT TOOLS

Every little thing which makes a customer a better customer, which keeps him coming to your store, and which makes him entirely satisfied with the goods he has bought, adds just so much to your lasting and increasing profit. You know this just as well as we do.

We want to put you in possession of some facts that will make your tool business better. We want to tell you some things that you can say to the skilled workmen who trade at your store, which will lead them to understand the real merits of "Plumb" tools just as you understand them, and as we who make them understand them.

We want every carpenter, every blacksmith, every stonemason, as well as the people who buy casual tools for home use, to know that there is such a thing as QUALITY in tools. We think that it will pay you, and pay you in dollars and cents as a cold, straight, out-and-out business proposition, if you stop and consider for an instant just what this big book means.

This book is a Catalogue of the tools we make. It represents the cumulative experience of fifty years of good tool-making. In that time we have grown into the largest concern in the world devoted to making our line of tools.

There is no single thing that goes into the making of a perfect tool that is not done in our factory and under our own immediate supervision. We are personally, morally and financially responsible for the good work that goes into every single hammer, hatchet or pick that we make.

We are so fully responsible that if you sell a "PLUMB" tool which breaks from any defect in workmanship you have the authority to replace it at our expense. You can give in return for it a perfect tool of its kind and charge the same to us.

No one could make this guarantee who did not know that his tools would stand the test. We know.

No manufacturer who buys parts of his tools elsewhere can make such a broad, sweeping statement as that which we have just made.

The only way to have a thing done right is to do it yourself.

We make not only the steel parts of our tools, but also the handles, in our own factory.

As you know, most manufacturers buy their handles ready-made. These ready-made handles have not the good quality that ours have, and the manufacturers cannot guarantee them.

Our handles are made from selected second growth hickory. We keep men in the lumber districts of West Virginia and Kentucky who do nothing else but pick out the best wood for handles. This wood is shipped to us in the form of billets. These billets are split, not sawed, so that the line of the handle will always run the way of the grain, which adds greatly to its strength and makes it impossible for it to break or split after it is turned.

Every handle is turned in our own wood works. It is carefully inspected as to color and grain before being used.

This is only one small detail out of a great number of things which must be done to make good tools.

Another detail which shows the almost loving care which we bestow upon every tool is found in our adze-eye claw hammer.

You know, and every workman knows, that the "balance" of a hammer is important in doing good work.

When a man has to work all day with a hammer, every little bit of power lost is so much taken out of his working capacity. Even the constant driving of nails with a hammer which does not balance requires an extra effort on the part of the workman.

There may be among your customers carpenters who do not appreciate this theory, and who do not understand why some hammers feel right and others do not, when they work.

Tell them about "Plumb's" hammers. Ask them to swing one and feel how it adapts itself to the hand.

Tell them, too, that the claw runs to such a fine point that it will draw the smallest brad as well as the heaviest nail.

No hammer is ever sent from our works that has not these points. These arguments alone will lead any carpenter to become a regular customer for "Plumb's" hammers.

Only a long and exhaustive account of every detail of manufacture could show all the good points of "Plumb's" tools. This is not necessary. You know, just as every live hardware man knows, that the name "Plumb" stands for the best in tools. You know it so well that it is really a waste of words to say it.

What we want to impress upon you is that there is a large and growing trade waiting for you in your town that you do not get. Skilled mechanics in every line who could use our tools ought to know about them. These men could or should be your customers. They are intelligent, skilled workmen who can understand the advantage of a good tool quicker than any other class.

Do not let them buy at random. See that they know that they are getting quality when they buy "Plumb's" tools.

You know well enough that your trade depends upon the absolute satisfaction of your customers.

You know that no workman who ever bought a tool made by "Plumb" was ever dissatisfied. If he was, it is your fault. If by any accident he got a tool which escaped through the net of our thorough inspection with any defect in its making, he could have had that tool replaced instantly without argument or protest. Therefore, when you sell "Plumb's" tools you sell absolute satisfaction.

Our interests are identical. Let us help one another.

All our experience and knowledge in regard to tools is at your disposal, if it will help you to add a single good customer to your trade.
